Re: New Policy for Draft Orders and APD's

As of November 1, 2016, applications for permit to drill (apd) within a pending spacing unit will not be approved until the draft order has been received by the WOGCC. The docket menu on the website will show "pending" for dockets without a draft order. If the draft order is not received within ninety days of the hearing, pending apd's will be denied. Any apd's submitted for renewal without a corresponding draft order will also be denied.
